

Economic and Commercial Report
for the Month of May 2018

Commercial Section, Sao Paulo Brazil.

INTRODUCTION

This report highlights trade overview of Brazil in general and with Pakistan in particular in view of trade data for the month of April 2018 released by Ministry of Development, Industry & Foreign Trade. It also covers activities of the Commercial Section, Sao Paulo, Brazil during May 2018.

1. ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL CONDITION OF BRAZIL

Brazil's domestic political situation remained fluid due to uncertainty and speculations about presidential candidates for the upcoming elections in October 2018. Popular polls still place former president Mr. Lula da Silva as favourite but was barred by the courts after losing an appeal in corruption charges. He is currently in jail and his legal experts are trying to release him and reverse the decision barring him from elections. The situation seems to remain same in next few months and will only become clear once the contenders are finalized probably by August's deadline for candidate nominations. This made the economic agents more cautious as the uncertainty has negative effects on sentiment of businesses, consumers and investors and bears the genesis to seriously influence current economic rebound. According to FGV's industry survey preview, business confidence in the industrial sector fell slightly by -0.3% in May, 2018. Industrial production fell by 0.1% in the month and the labor market showed a slower than expected increase in the employed population. Nevertheless, unemployment rate dropped to 12.9% in April from 13.1% in March 2018. Inflation developments remain favorable and the Central Bank maintained the interest rates (Selic rates) at 6.5% p.a.

The Brazilian Real has continued to weaken against the dollar during the month. After trading around 3.2-3.3 reals per dollar during the year so far, the Brazilian currency depreciated severely and fell to 3.73 in May 2018 i.e currency fell by almost 13% against US dollar as compared to April, 2018. The Central Bank intervened to stabilize the situation by injecting dollar in the market. It tripled sales of exchange swap contracts from US$250 million a day to US$750 million to support the Real. However, it seems that market is not responded well because after a brief appreciation from BR$ 3.72 to BR$ 3.65 in last week of May, the month closed with an exchange rate of BR$ 3.735.

Another significant development during the month was truckers strike due to rising fuel prices. It almost paralyzed Brazil with significant supply melt down affecting industries, consumers, exports, government and population at large. Apart from increase in global oil prices, the change in policy of Petrobras to pass on international price rises directly to consumers raised fuel prices in domestic market considerably. This led the truckers to go on strike to get concessions and soften the pricing policy. The Government succumbed to the protesters and offered a subsidy and tax cuts to the tune of US$ 3.6 billion to support the domestic diesel prices. It also includes first 60-day period price freeze, after which Petrobras will start adjusting diesel prices on monthly basis switching from its current policy of daily price changes. In order to finance cost of diesel subsidy, the government imposed cuts on budget of 20 ministries, eliminated a special tax regime for textile industry, reduced credit for soft drink manufacturers and added 11 more business sector to 20% payroll tax system.

2.2. BRAZIL & PAKISTAN

Bilateral trade flow jacked up during the month with 76% increase as compared to April 2017 and 147% increase over last month. It is due to massive imports of agriculture products i.e soybeans and corn seed by Pakistan during the month. Together, they constituted 95% of Pakistan imports outlay. It is important to mention that during first quarter of 2018 soybeans was traded at a total value of US$ 26.183 million only as against US$ 121.39 million during April, 2018 alone. This phenomenal growth in its imports resulted record trade surplus of US$ 125.16 million during April, 2018. In value terms, trade flow during the month was US$ 134.286 million with Pakistan contributing only US$ 4.563 million towards bilateral trade.
